What sets Foxcroft Academy apart from other boarding schools? We are located in Maine, consistently one of the safest states in our nation. We have a proud tradition of strong academics and competitive co-curricular activities. We live, work, and go to school in a caring community, one where people look out for each other. We have teachers and staff members who care about the growth and development of our students, mind, body, and spirit. We don't have day students and boarding students walking our halls each and every day - We have Foxcroft Academy students, and they can change the world. Come ride with the Herd!
